

85 18-C-03 Expropriate legal buildings and make a preservation for the site
To expropriate and re-organize the lands within a certain zone. The buildings in the zone will not be reserved except which have been applied for reservation in accordance with the law within a certain period of application. Historic buildings in the certain zone can also be reserved and repaired in accordance with the law of Cultural Heritage Preservation Act.

The expropriation case of Wenxin Beitun stations of Taichung MRT lines and the north and south side of Taichung Shui-nan Airport site are examples of this plan. With the preservation and reactivation of historic buildings, we could not only preserve the memory of culture but also reduce construction waste generated from demolition to achieve the goal of effect of carbon reduction.
